This Essay was written in late 2008 and is of importance to understanding events which are now occurring.

The financial/monetary summit which is now being arranged is certainly linked to Dajjal's phase three.

It is through a study of events which led to the passage from Dajjal's phase one to phase two that we can understand the present phase.

We have long anticipated that the creation of a new international monetary system to replace the tottering dollar is inevitable.

We must now look carefully to seek to recognize what is still carefully concealed evidence that would confirm this.

We must also anticipate that great wars would also erupt in which Israel would display its military superiority.

Not only does Obama's election as US President now 'whitewash' a terribly-soiled US image in the world but also the election of Barack Obama as US President.

John McCain's concession speech indicates that he (as well as the leadership of the Republican Party) is now in a position to recognize the reality of the situation.

It was not by accident that the present phase of the financial meltdown commenced in early September 2008.
